I am trying to make a class that will hold references to objects, but I am a little confused on how to do it. The constructor will be like : Player() { setPlayerDice(); } in Player class I want to be able to obtain playerDice. How can I do this? A: You can't. That's not how they're constructed. That's how they operate. You can, if you want, add to it: Player(Player const & otherPlayer) : playerDice(otherPlayer.playerDice) { } You don't have to share state, though. If you want to keep the state per object, simply add Player(Player const & otherPlayer) : playerDice(otherPlayer.playerDice) { } Player(Player const & otherPlayer)
