When Chrome opens I would like to know what kind of tools it uses to, let's say, debug JavaScript. This may be something that's not unique to the Google Chrome browser, but I don't know anything about other browser's development tools. Here is a YouTube video that outlines how to take a look at all of the tabs that are open and the websites that they are all pointing to. That's helpful when you want to find the URL of a particular tab that you're interested in. A: The same developer tools you would use for any other browser (Firefox, IE or whatever). Open the Developer Tools (F12) window Edit: To get more details on the resource usage you can right click on the little gear and select 'Inspect Element' Q: Finding the location of a region The region R is the set of points (x,y) that are the intersection of $\{x^2 + 4y^2 \geq 2, 4x + y^2 \leq 1\}$ and $\{x^2 + y^2 \leq 2\}$ The region R is bounded below, and it's area is 27.
