Ho-Ho-Home Invasion is a unique and challenging puzzler where you navigate a giant snow globe. Unable to leave the confines of your home, save for your wand, you must use the various shapes and tools at your disposal to uncover the truth. Your health won't last long, since you're in a zero-g world, and you'll also face dangers such as evaporation, freezing, mechanical devices that chew through your body, and many other challenges.

Features:

- YOUR CREATION? SAVE! Create your snow globe and then decide how and when it will drift away. This is your snow globe, and you can decide every single detail about it. Create a snow globe that begins as a small hill and gradually expands, creating a fan-shaped mound, or a snow globe that starts in one room and suddenly expands to multiple rooms, letting it slowly overflow into the hallway. "Drift" your snow globe will it will expand, shrinking in the process. Use your wits and your tools to defeat the suction or by exploding elements!
- ACTIVATE THE ATMOSPHERIC RIGGINGS The atmosphere of your snow globe is a result of gravity, air currents, moisture, and even temperature differences. Use your wits and tools to activate or deactivate air currents with the in-game atmosphere meter.
- SURVIVAL? AVOID DANGER! Using your wits and the available tools, you must escape from a deadly situation that could kill you. Take a "safety" break, deactivate the atmosphere, or even explode elements to solve the puzzle. GREAT LEVELS?EXCITING! As you progress through the game, certain factors will lead you into increasingly difficult areas. Make sure to check them out, but always make sure you can survive! Collect the tools you will need for these levels, and be ready for deadly surprises! EXPERIENCE REALISM! Ho-Ho-Home Invasion uses OpenGL, so you will get a 3D-like atmosphere on a 2D screen. You will be able to walk around in first-person mode, but your view will be limited to the left and right sides of the screen, just as a real snow globe would look. Explosions are placed at a great distance, to avoid killing you while in first-person mode. You will not be able to walk through walls, unless you use the expansion mode, of course. -NEW: "Stress reduction" slot - new slot in the daily stress activity tracker in front of the Fireplace, letting players keep track of their stress status.-NEW: "Save The Dog" daily stress activity: help the Dog eat the treats, pet it, do a craft, or if you're feeling really generous, feed it!-NEW: Clean dishes added to the daily stress activity list: do dishes, wash dishes, or dry the dishes.-NEW: Now in the daily stress activity list for NPC's: Clean the carpet, clean the stairs, etc. (That's a thing you can do in the game!)-NEW: "Sock Tap" button added to the "First Casual game of the day"-NEW: The daily stress activity list now includes "Eliminate!", which will remove a stress-related activity from your list. For example, if the "Create a craft" daily stress activity was added to your list, if you click "Eliminate" on that same activity, you will remove that daily stress activity from your list.-NEW: Added two new daily stress activities: "Read Aloud" and "Comfort food". These stress activities require a book or treat to perform. Comforts increase daily stress.-NEW: Added a daily stress activity that will enable you to start a "Comfort Period" in the comfort items screen.-NEW: Added "Defend Your Space" to the daily stress activity list. Players who defend their space will earn extra comfort items.Defend Your Space: You'll need to defend your space every 20 seconds to receive the daily comfort items.-NEW: Added a daily stress activity: "Put On a Show"! Perform a Craft to earn extra stress. (You have to earn all craft levels in the craft stage to get this activity!)Put on a Show: Perform a craft (i.e. dress up in fancy clothing, or perform the Hot Glasses in front of a crowd) to get extra stress! -The Fancy Clothes activity has a weekly limit of 10 hours (to ensure that players don't become able to earn "extra" stress through it too easily) -A craft in the craft stage costs the same amount of stress (per craft level, regardless of the amount of crafting you do), as it did in previous seasons-NEW: Added a new crafting stage in the craft stage: "Make a Craft"! If you craft a craft in the "Make a Craft" stage, your craft will be destroyed (but you will

For some it's a new pair of socks, a bus ticket or a motel room. For others it's some serious crime like armed robbery, murder and murder and manslaughter. Whichever it is, for many the 1st of January is the last day of the year they're able to go out and find a job to get cash on the last day of the year before they can't work for six months then one year then two and three and so on. This new book is a storyline of Eilis, a sixteen year old girl, who has just been released after serving time for shop lifting. Now she's facing the biggest challenge of her life to find a job and to become a young woman. The best option to really begin this journey is to live with a friend, a man called Oskar, who has also just been released. As the story unravels Eilis realizes that this is not as easy as she thought it would be and that it is not the person that she's been told it's going to be. She has to face it soon enough that it begins to take over her life and that she begins to have to fight for her survival.
